

Dr. Jane Clare Jones @janeclarejones

8 Feb · 15 tweets · janeclarejones/status/1358761383354109955

We wrote a several thousand word article meticulously analysing what is wrong with your book in the last Issue of The Radical Notion Alison, your response 'why do people bother writing so many words when they don't have something nice to say.'

It's very interesting that you have churned out piece after piece plus one book which all consist basically of 'white women used rape as a racist weapon against black men in the antebellum south and therefore white women who want justice or protection from male sexual violence are evil bitches weaponising their trauma against marginalised people while they are just privileged racist whiny bitches,' and every time we call you out on this monstrous woman-hating, and on the clear instrumentalisation and appropriation of discourses around rape to facilitate that woman-hating, you immediately default to 'they're such nasty big meanies.'

Maybe stop weaponising your fragile bourgeois white femininity to try and protect yourself and deflect warranted critique when people call you on your shit hey?

"I'm a survivor myself and when people critique my misogynist crap I retreat and feel vulnerable and apparently when I do that I am not weaponising anything or engaging in political whiteness because that's only something those bitches over there do."

"And just imagine how terrible it must be when those bitches do it to people who are really vulnerable because those people are really vulnerable unlike those nasty cows who are just weaponising their white-lady tears (which are totally different from my white lady tears obv's) in order to hurt people who actually matter and this description of political whiteness in no way looks like a perfect description of trans activism and anyone who thinks it does is just an hetropatriarchal colonial bigot natch."

Let's be very clear Professor Phipps.

The entire last eight years of your career have been built on recycling a discourse I watched you suck off twitter in 2012/13. It is a discourse which lazily and flabbily cloaks itself in the analysis of race, and appropriates third gender cultures, in order to give legitimacy to an ideology that was fashioned by white male billionaires in the US in the early 90s, and which serves the interests of white males and techno-corporate power.

https://thepoliticalerasureofsex.org/wp-content/uploads/2020/10/The-Political-Erasure-of-Sex\_Appendix.pdf

Central to this analysis is the effort to completely erase the sex-based nature of female people's oppression, of which rape is a fundamental part. In line with the objectives of this project, you have been churning out this identikit Tumblr-esque rape-erasing bullshit with great facility for several years now. And we will fucking call you on it, and on whose interests it serves, and on the contempt it exhibits for women, and on your flagrant and unconcealed careerist motivations, and on the fact that you are stanning for an ideology that is being exported from the US all over the globe, and imposed on non-white majority cultures, where they are gaslighting WoC with just another variation of this woman-hating shit (there they are not 'white women' they are 'straight women' and hence need to STFU), all while piously lecturing us on 'political whiteness' and 'anti-colonialism.'

If you give a fuck about anti-colonialism go and talk to the women in Nigeria about what is happening there you absolute fucking hypocrite.

Where they still have child marriage and FGM and breast ironing, and are still being called privileged bitches by trans activists and their allies.

Now, run along and weaponise your trauma against the nasty evil women who are just such awful terrible meanies to poor little you when really you did nothing at all other than tell women who want some kind of social recognition and recompense for the way they are violated day in and day out of being a bunch of nasty racist bourgeois Karens.

And yes, please go right ahead and quote tweet me as further evidence of your 'political whiteness.'

God I despise you.

• • •